Prayer is at the foundation of our relationship with God and with one another. When we pray together, God transforms us both individually and as members of the Body of Christ who are sent on mission in the world. It is essential that all families join together to pray for peace and justice in our nation and in the world. We pray for all those who suffer from all forms of discrimination, racism, and hatred. We pray for forgiveness of yesterday’s wrongdoings. We especially pray for a better today and a peaceful tomorrow.

Families who are committed to forming children in the ways of justice and peace are necessary for positive social change in our communities. Parents are our children's first and most influential educators. Through effective education, discussion, and reflection about values of peace and justice in the home, families can help to heal the wounds of injustice, racism, hatred, and violence that exist in our world today.
